

MR. SANER AND THE "HULL PACKET."

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS, YESTERDAY.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE, QUEEN'S BENCH.—MONDAY.

Before the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE and Mr. Justice

Mr. Webster, Q.C. instructed by Messrs. Rollit and Sena, moved on behalf of Lieutenant-Colonel Saner for a rule nisi calling upon Mr. Farquharson (Findlay) and the Hull Packet Newspaper Company (limited), to show cause why a criminal infamous to a newspaper called the Hull Packet... The libel was published in the paper of the 12th of April in the present year.

Lieut.-Colonel Saner was a Justice of the Peace for the town of Kingston-upon-Hull, and had been so for upwards of six years. He was also a director of the Hull Dock Company, and had carried on the Hull magazine office as a timber merchant. He had been for upwards of 19 years an officer in the Volunteer Force, and was originally in a rifle corps regiment, and subsequently became a member of the Fourth East York Artillery Volunteers. He is a member of the Rifle Corps, and of the Royal Artillery, Major. Lieut.-Colonel Saner was a most active member of the Volunteer Force. He had passed through all those ranks and had had for several years a commission of lieutenant-colonel in a volunteer regiment. In 1876, having been publicly thanked for his services in connection with the Rifle Volunteers, and had carried on the Hull magazine office as a timber merchant, he was asked by a certain Colonel Humphreys to join the Artillery Volunteers, and he consented. In 1878 a Court of Inquiry was held on Colonel Humphreys' conduct, in regard to certain matters which had not entered into Mr. Saner's got up a memorial in support of Mr. Humphreys, and he himself took the matter to London to present a memorial to Lord London, the honorary colonel of the corps, and in consequence of the intervention, Mr. Humphreys was allowed to remain commandant of the Fourth East Yorkshire Artillery Corps.

In 1878 differences again arose between Colonel Humphreys and the officers in the regiment, and in February, 1879, a Court of Inquiry was held for a Court of Enquiry again called Colonel Humphreys. Mr. Saner's services were again solicited by Mr. Humphreys and his solicitor to induce those officers to withdraw the application for a Court of Enquiry, and upon certain terms... Mr. Saner did not consent to withdraw their application. Those officers, however, were not carried out by Mr. Humphreys, and in his absence, Mr. Saner did that which was the only thing which had been suggested.

Mr. Saner thought it necessary to take notice of the reasons for the Court of Inquiry, and he thought it necessary to take notice of the reasons for the Court of Inquiry, and he thought it necessary to take notice of the reasons for the Court of Inquiry...

The quality of many of the statements... the young gentlemen who were to receive as second-hand names from Mr. William Shakespeare, who, by not exactly in a legal gentleman, in a society of men who were to receive as second-hand names from Mr. William Shakespeare...

After such anxious consideration, we have come to the conclusion that the most appropriate notice to be given up with the "Hull Packet."

With respect to this suggestion (the learned counsel said), Mr. Saner had never once made any charge against Colonel Humphreys, but had, on the contrary, taken part on many occasions. The article was on no other subject.

And after all this loss-witnessing, which draws a lot of foolish people into the net, and the honor, the old slipper is to turn round and witness truthfully that they are deceived, but that still he said: "The whole of the matter was a mistake."

tion of his Colonel-Commandant. We may be mistaken, but we have heard of a lieutenant-colonel in a volunteer corps being recommended in question from his superior officer. When he has done so, and when he has done so, and when he has done so...

It is true that we are not here to question the honor of the Board and for the credit of the district that they should have been more careful in their selection of a retiring officer and his duties.

The learned counsel, Mr. Justice, said that the Board should have been more careful in their selection of a retiring officer and his duties.

Mr. GABRIEL: I don't think you understand the matter. The Board should have been more careful in their selection of a retiring officer and his duties.
